What to Expect?

Bodrum Castle, also known as the Castle of St. Peter is the most popular sight of the Bodrum peninsula. The Museum of Underwater Archaeology is also located inside the Bodrum Castle and it is a must see in Bodrum and Gumbet. The Castle and Museum of Underwater Archaeology is located 3 km. from Gumbet, in central Bodrum, 10 minutes by Dolmus, along the marina.

The medieval castle of St. Peter is a great example of 15th century Crusader architecture and has been converted into the Museum of Underwater Archaeology with remains dating back to the Bronze age such as collection of great relics from the lives of ancient shipwrecked mariners, with glassware, copper-ware and gold items. The collections are exhibited on the 14 galleries in the museum.

Bodrum Castle: A Majestic Fortress Steeped in History

Standing proudly at the heart of Bodrum, the imposing the Castle, also known as St. Peter's Castle, is an architectural marvel that dates back to the 15th century. Originally constructed by the Knights of St. John, this magnificent fortress has witnessed centuries of history and played a vital role in safeguarding the region against invaders.

As you step inside the castle walls, you'll be greeted by a mesmerizing blend of Gothic and Ottoman architectural elements, showcasing the diverse influences that have shaped the region throughout the centuries.

The Museum of Underwater Archaeology: Delve into the Mysteries of the Deep

Housed within the walls of Bodrum Castle, the Museum of Underwater Archaeology is a true treasure trove for history enthusiasts. As you wander through its halls, you'll encounter a fascinating collection of artifacts and exhibits that have been meticulously recovered from ancient shipwrecks and submerged archaeological sites.

Marvel at the intricately designed jewelry, ceramics, and ancient artifacts that have been expertly preserved, offering a glimpse into the lives of ancient seafarers and civilizations.
